

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Denison University is a co-educational college of liberal arts and sciences. It was founded in 1831 as the Granville Literary and Theological Institution by the Ohio Baptist Education Society. In 1856 the name Denison University was adopted, but the institution has remained strictly an undergraduate liberal arts college.